

LITIGATION SUPPORT SERVICES

Expertise in the face of adversity

We are well-versed in the calculation of lost profits and expense damages for a variety of situations in many forums:

- Breach of contract
- Professional malpractice
- Intellectual property infringement
- Shareholder oppression
- Personal injury
- Wrongful termination
- Construction disputes
- Class action defense
- Business interruption
- Extra expense

The world can be filled with uncertainties and hazards.

In addition to navigating the daily challenges presented by competitors, customers, suppliers, regulators, and even your own workforce, businesses occasionally encounter the unnerving distraction of litigation.

Unlike managing daily challenges that occur as part of day-to-day routines, a dispute or lawsuit specifying “damages” or “lost profits” typically generates high levels of anxiety and urgency within an organization’s leadership. Among the legitimate fears are the potential for significant costs as a plaintiff or defendant, an awareness of perhaps ill-advised written communications, and the need to defend past decisions that are now questioned with the benefit of hindsight.
